How To Be Found By The Man You've Been Looking For

Synopsis

Bestselling author Michelle McKinney Hammond, whose books have sold over 1.3 million copies, encourages single women to place their need for love in perspective, take their lives off hold, live purposely, and gain a better understanding of how to relate successfully to men. In her candid, no-nonsense style, Michelle assures the reader that the journey toward finding a mate for life does not have to be filled with anxiety or regret. She warmly offers encouragement from her own life experiences and gleans godly principles from Ruth, a sister in the Bible who got her man, to show readers how to get the love they want. Those stuck in the dead-end dating scene, along with those on an involuntary relationship fast, need to know that marriage could very well be on the horizon...if only they learn how to be found by the man they've been looking for. Formerly titled Ending the Search for Mr. Right

Customer Reviews

I was very impressed with this book, although I honestly don't know what I had expected when I selected it. But it's not your run of the mill dating, get-your-man kind of book. This book follows the love story of Ruth and Boaz and uses it for its inspiration. Along the way we're treated to nuggets of Personal Confessions which are things we can repeat over and over to ourselves, and Man Facts which will help us to understand men a little better. What I really liked about the book was that it didn't push finding a man. It promotes letting the man find you. McKinney-Hammond encourages women to understand themselves and live their lives and stand on FAITH that the perfect man will find them. She helps the reader to get ready for love spiritually, emotionally, and physically by looking deeper inside of themselves. I was totally impressed with this book, because it really can apply not just to men, but other relationships. We really need to know who we are and to know God before we can stand on Faith that love will find us. We need to follow God's plan and trust that when it's the right time, Mr. Right will find us and it will be a wonderful match. My copy has highlight marks all through it so that I can refer back to it again and again. Quite honestly, I'd recommend this to women of all ages, and I think it's a book that can be read at different times in your life and will be significant every time. I encourage anyone who's single (whether you think you're looking or not) to pick up a copy of this. It can only enlighten you!

Absolutely a must read, even for men, that would like more information on what women would want to find in a man. Michelle does a wonderful job in making everything clear and Scripturally based. If you want to know, men, what God Himself would expect us to look like for the woman that is praying for her husband, this is one of the great books that Michelle has written to inform both genders regarding a Godly relationship.

I bought the Kindle version of this book yesterday afternoon - and could not put it down - finished it by evening! This was my first time reading this author's works and I love her writing style - clean, crisp, detailed, engaging. She MAKES you want to continue to read and partake of her insights. Add to it that it is SOOOOO relevant for single women - especially women like me, in her 40s - single (never married) and no kids - and almost every other book about dating has so much more info on how to date if you're a single mom or a divorced woman - and the issues they have to deal with. Nothing against my sisters who are (bless you in your strength), but sometimes it feels like people forget about those of us who aren't. Michelle has provided one of the BEST examples of dating for a christian woman - or any woman. The knowledge of Naomi, the image of Boaz protecting and claiming his wife - and Ruth's graciousness and patience in living her life and doing right regardless of her situation - a WONDERFUL example for all women. The bar has been raised again - back where it belongs!

So many times we wonder what, if, or should I be doing....? This book clarifies WHAT we should be doing in the various seasons of our lives. It identifies IF you SHOULD be doing anything at all. The beautiful thing is it's scripture based, so you know your trust is safely placed. I've even taken notes on what I want to highlight and stuck the notes in the front of the book so I can quickly review and remind myself for a pick-me-up. We need reminders to keep us on track.

I really enjoyed reading a "real" Christian book on being single while waiting for my husband to find me. The book is a great reminder to stay busy for the Lord vs searching or being overly concerned with finding a husband. I loved the "personal confessions" and "man facts." I cannot even tell you how many pages I bookmarked (I have the Kindle Edition). I enjoyed the book so much that I purchased the paperback edition for my sister. I am also thinking of getting one for my 20-year-old niece. The references to the book of Ruth were really on point! So many times Christian books don't provide a reference point and I end up feeling like I'm just reading someone's opinion. As the book points out - it's what God says that matters. There were some parts of the book that stepped on my toes, which was a good thing. It really made me think about my past relationships (marriage) and I was able to "see" where I was out of God's will and just doing what I wanted to do, even though I was saying and thinking I was in God's will. Read this book with an open heart and allow it to minister to you. You will see yourself, your friends, and your relatives' relationships in this book. So much biblical food for thought. I recommend this book.

I read this book years ago after a bad break up. The same month I read this book and internalized what it said, I met the man I am marrying this year! What a blessing. This book gives you INCREDIBLE perspective on what the heart and attitude of a Godly, single woman needs to look like. Let God prepare your heart for the man he has destined for you and let this book help you to do that!
